CAMP STAFF

Camp Director - Chris Phillips

Chris Phillips is in her fifth season with the Runnin' Bulldogs and her twenty-third season as a head coach. She has twenty plus seasons as a collegiate coach, twelve of those at Liberty University. Coach Phillips guided her teams to three NCAA Tournaments and three Big South Championships. She was named the Big South Coach of the Year in 1997 and 2001. Phillips has coached several 20 win seasons. She has compiled a lengthy track record of directing and coaching volleyball clinics and camps at colleges and high schools across the nation. Phillips has directed and administered volleyball camps for several years, watching them grow to over 500 participants.

Program Director – Phuong Luong

After coaching at various levels in Michigan, Luong's coaching career soared to the next level as he became the first assistant of the University of New Hampshire women's team from 1996-1998 where he helped the Wildcats reach the conference tournament finals in his second year as coach. His next step in his coaching career would keep Phuong on the East coast taking over first assistant responsibilities at Northeastern University in Boston, Massachusetts, where the team posted back-to-back 20-win seasons, which led him to the head coaching position at Wentworth Institute of Technology men's volleyball program. At Wentworth, Luong led his squad to conference championships from 1998-2000 and finished 13th in the final AVCA Div. III national rankings during the 1999 campaign. While attending Ferris State University, Luong played four years with the school's highly competitive club squad as well as two seasons with the Grand Rapids (Michigan) AAU Junior Olympic 18's Elite Team. From there, he spent two more years playing in the Midwest Professional Volleyball Association.
